

EUniverCities Sub-Network Internationalisation
Integration of international graduates into the regional labor market

28-29 November 2018

Aalborg, Denmark

Questions to be addressed & Program

How well are international graduates integrated in the regional labor market?

What are the main barriers that prevent integration?

How can foreign students be brought into contact with companies during training?

How can the awareness in the companies be strengthened that foreign specialists represent an opportunity?

Which offers are necessary to integrate family members (language courses, child care, work places, etc.)?

How can the search for suitable living space be supported?

How can this process be organized?

How can employees' reservations in the companies be reduced?

What role do universities play in qualifying refugees?

How can the status of qualifications and the abilities of refugees be objectively determined?

Which qualification offers can be offered?

How can city and university collaborate more effectively in all these respects?
